Have a smartphone?

You can now use it to report wages for the SSI program!

You will need:

- The Social Security number of the person who is reporting the wages (the caller)
- The Social Security number of the person who earns the wages (the worker)
- The total amount of gross wages received by the worker (gross wages are the amount of wages before taxes and other deductions are taken out)
- The caller's name as it appears on their Social Security card

If you want to report your wages with the new smartphone application or by using your phone, contact your local Social Security office for additional instructions.

Scan the QR code below to download the free SSI mobile wage reporting app from the Apple iTunes store or the Android Google Play Store.
